

Waxoyl Vs Competitors Comparison Chart

|                                     | Zero Drips, post installation | No hole drilling required | Self heals | Doesn't crack or peel | Resilient to spray | Lifetime application | Stops existing surface rust | Stays flexible, intact and protective for years | Safe on rubber/silicone seals, wiring, etc. | Endorsed by most major car manufacturers | Fully fogs and creeps into body cavities/seams etc | Enviro-friendly | Cost per year* |
|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------------|------------|-----------------------|--------------------|----------------------|-----------------------------|---|---|--|--|-----------------|----------------|
| Waxoyl                       | ✓                             | ✓                         | ✓          | ✓                     | ✓                  | ✓                    | ✓                           | ✓   | ✓   | ✓  | ✓  | ✓               | < $100        |
| Light oils: Krown, Rust Check, etc. | ✗                             | ✗                         | ✗          | ✓                     | ✗                  | ✗                    | ✗                           | ✗   | ✗   | ✗  | ✓  | ✓?              | > $100        |
| Lanolin based: Fluid film, etc.     | ✗                             | 2                         | 3          | ✓                     | ✗                  | ✗                    | ✗                           | ✗   | ✗   | ✗  | ✓  | ✓               | > $100        |
| No-drip oils or 'Grease'            | 1                             | ✗                         | 3          | ✓                     | ✗                  | ✗                    | ✗                           | ✗   | ✗ ✓   | ✗  | ✗ ✓  | ✗               | > $100        |
| Asphalt                             | ✓                             | 2                         | ✗          | ✗                     | ✓                  | ✗ ✓                  | ✗                           | ✗   | ✓   | ✗  | ✗  | ✓               | > $100        |
| Rubberized                          | ✓                             | 2                         | ✗          | ✗                     | ✓                  | ✗ ✓                  | ✗                           | ✗   | ✓   | ✗  | ✗  | ✓               | > $100        |

* Based on 10yr ownership period for a midsize car, or small SUV

- Advertised as lifetime, but doesn't last in real world service. Significant deterioration after 2-4 years. Allows water/salt in behind, causing major damage.
- May drip a bit, post installation.
- Some installers or applications may require hole drilling.
- Has limited self healing capabilities for a limited period after installation.